WHAT SYRIZA’S ELECTION VICTORY MEANS FOR THE LEFT IN THE UK
FRIDAY 6 MARCH 15.00 – 16.15

CHAIR CAROLINE LUCAS MP
SPEAKERS MOLLY SCOTT CATO MEP GREEN PARTY
SPokesperson on finance ZOE WILLIAMS THE GUARDIAN ADAM RAMSAY OPEN DEMOCRACY
KOSTAS LOUKERIS MEMBER OF THE RULING COUNCIL OF THE GREEK GREEN PARTY

The recent Greek elections captivated the world. In the face of brutal austerity, the people elected the previously tiny Syriza ‘the coalition of the radical left’.

Hear from a leading Greek Green about their involvement, and discuss what we can learn from them.

CAROLINE LUCAS
Discussion of how we can move to a genuinely sustainable steady state ‘post growth economy’ which works for people and the environment, which provides people with the jobs and the material well being they need in terms of jobs, housing, healthcare and education. What steps do we need to take to make this transition in the face of climate change?

Environmental damage is often linked to human rights abuse. For example, in Taiwan, a new airport would mean the forcible removal of 10,000 people. The speakers will show how grassroots campaigns internationally can protect people and planet and how Green Party members can work in solidarity for environmental justice.
The aim of the panel is to increase understanding of trans and intersex people. We will provide a brief outline of the history of rights of trans people in the UK and where we are now. Through people’s own stories we will explain the discrimination, abuse, and difficulties encountered in many areas of their lives for those who transition and those who don’t.

The ground breaking work of Brighton Council will be described from a Brighton trans resident including the hosting of the first ever UK trans pride. There will also a speaker sharing issues surrounding intersex human rights abuses.
